THE TEXT

(1) /This Saturday, like every other Caroline Fidd, 34, will tackle a moutain of housework ,in between, entertaining her two lively sons, Michael and Steven., In the evening she'll bath the boys and get them(1) off to bed before preparing supper for her husband Gary, And where will he be while all this exhausting activity is going on? In the football stands* with his mates. I watch Chelsea every Saturday, says Gary .

(2) Gary, 36, who's the director of an insurance company, has an ability to avoid domestic jobs and yet he insists he's not selfish. Look, I love my family but I need my own time and space. My wife knew I was mad about football when we married. Caroline's a full-time mum and has all day to herself when the boys are at school. I work long hours and need some fun.I insist that men and women do need to spend time away from each other with their own friends and interests.

(3) It makes the relationship more interesting. But if Ihad to choose between football and my wife, I'd opt for football.

(4) I could always find another wife - but Chelsea's irreplaceable'.Caroline seems to accept the situation. She admits she's not always happy with it(2) but because Gary is the sole breadwinner she'd feel guilty if she made too many demands on him.

(5) « On the whole I don't mind, although I do get angry now and then I 'd like him to be at home more but Gary works very hard so I suppose he has a right to enjoy himself".
